Mumbai (Maharashtra) [India], October 29: Founded by design futurist Jimmy Mistry, Della Townships is reimagining how India lives, works, and dreams. As an asset-light real estate company, Della is pioneering a transformative new model that integrates resorts, residences, recreation, wellness, and luxury destination outlet malls under one visionary brand.

Guided by its proprietary CDDMO™ model -- Conceptualization, Design, Development, Marketing & Sales, and Operations -- Della Townships is ushering in a paradigm shift in Indian real estate, much like how Airbnb revolutionized hospitality or Uber redefined mobility.

Phase 1 Expansion: ₹5,800 Crore GDV Across 5 Townships

In the first phase of expansion (FY 2025-26), Della Townships has pre-launched five integrated townships across India, with a combined Gross Development Value (GDV) of ₹5,800 crore.

- Phase 1 Development: 12-18 months -- includes theme, infrastructure, hospitality, adventure, retail, real estate, and medical wellness zones.
- Phase 2: Branded residences and complete township build-out within 36 months.

This phased rollout ensures each township's core concept, theme, and experiences go live within 12-18 months, generating early investor confidence, high footfall, and accelerated asset value growth.

A New Mindset for Real Estate

Speaking about the expansion, Mr. Jimmy Mistry, Design Futurist & Founder, Della Townships, said:

"With Della Townships, we are proud to pioneer India's first asset-light real estate company dedicated to integrated township development. This model fundamentally changes how real estate is created, financed, and experienced. Instead of traditional land ownership, we create value through design excellence, innovation, and brand strength. In this financial year alone, we have pre-launched five large-scale townships across Pune, Goa, Nagpur, and Raipur, with ₹5,800 crore GDV under active development."

He further added:

"We are now moving into the next phase, with five additional townships scheduled for launch in the next two quarters, adding another ₹14,000 crore GDV. Collectively, that's nearly ₹20,000 crore worth of integrated townships under rollout -- all without owning a single square foot of land."

Salutogenic Living: The Future of Indian Communities

Every Della Township is envisioned as a Salutogenic Living Community -- designed to add years to life and life to years. Through a blend of architecture, wellness, sustainability, and human-centric design, these communities embody a new development philosophy that replaces land banking with experience-led, purpose-driven ecosystems.

By integrating global design concepts with deep domain expertise across hospitality, adventure, MICE infrastructure, luxury retail outlet malls, and Mayr-based medical wellness, Della Townships empowers landowners and developers to unlock maximum financial potential while creating thriving, self-sustaining urban environments.
